

Today's Paper » FEATURES » EDUCATION PLUS

Published: August 11, 2014 00:00 IST | Updated: August 11, 2014 05:46 IST

Youth empowerment

Survival Instincts will conduct a camp in Kodaikanal for youth empowerment from August 14 to 18. The entire wilderness expedition will be led and supervised by resident certified American Red Cross instructors.

The purpose of this three-day expedition is to develop organisational skills, teamwork, communication, problem-solving, and leadership skills of participants in the context of wilderness.

The activities will focus on exercises and training that will help the participants learn valuable lessons for survival both in corporate and outback environments.

Where and when?

The camp will be located at private camping ground in Kodaikanal. Participants will stay in privately-owned safe and secure camps leased by Survival Instincts.

Women matrons and women trainers from Survival Instincts will be supervising camps attended by girls and women.

The camp will be held from August 15-17. All teams will leave for Kodaikanal from Chennai on August 14 at 4 p.m. All teams will return to Chennai on August 18.

Registrations will be open till seats are filled out.

Anyone between the age of 18-29 years as on August 1, 2014 can participate.

Teams will be formed and each team will have a team leader.

Printable version | Aug 12, 2014 11:02:51 AM | <http://www.thehindu.com/todays-paper/tp-features/tp-educationplus/youth-empowerment/article6302379.ece>

© The Hindu