SUMMER CAMP

The Russian Dy. Consulate General felicitating the winners of the 2013 Autumn Leadership Camp during a special ceremony at the Chennai Russian Centre of Science and Culture.

Survival Instincts is India's first and only authorized provider of American Red Cross health & safety training programs.

About the Program

The purpose of this three day camp is to develop organizational, teamwork, communication, problem solving, and leadership skills of participants. The training will focus on exercises and activities that will help learn valuable lessons for success.

Today invariably students find their careers in the corporate world – one that is filled with tough survival challenges and cut throat competition. The only environment that is more hostile to survival than the corporate world, is wilderness.

The mode of training itself is competition based, with teams from various colleges competing with each other for overall victory. Competitive exercises will include both urban and wilderness problem solving, complicated navigations, communication under challenging environments, signaling, shelter building, firecraft etc.

This is not an exercise for the weak hearted or those who are mentally or physically unprepared for challenges. Its for those who would strive through difficulties to victory.

Where is it held?

At private camping grounds in Kodaikanal. Stay will be in privately owned safe and secure camps leased by survival instincts. Woman matrons and women trainers from Survival Instincts will be supervising camps attended by girls and women.
