

At the workplace...

A fatality or injury at your workplace (especially involving a customer) poses serious legal liability and irreparable loss of goodwill to your business. With India being termed the 'heart attack capital' of the world, sufficient preparedness at workplaces is a necessity

Our AED training, when used in conjunction with CPR, ensures 95% survival rates on cardiac arrest cases

With your baby...

Statistically, 1 child dies every 5 days from choking at home, even in the most developed of nations*. More than 10,000 children are taken to the hospital emergency rooms for extremely dangerous airway obstructions every year!

We use only 'active' dummies for infant CPR training, as the learning process is 4 times faster

Get the world's most prestigious first aid certification, now in India!

Survival Instincts is India's only provider of American Red Cross health & safety training programs.

Teamwork, confidence, and leadership - key elements of our first aid curriculum - improves adverse impact of injuries and the ability to save lives in any emergency situation

Amongst a team...

For managers, medical leaves, and illnesses from ignorance of public health issues, pose avoidable losses; both as inability to meet client commitments and as lost team productivity

Inability of bystanders to assess the severity of injuries, when moving a victim of an accident, can actually cause more harm, than good.

Your ability to perform practical on-road assignments on patient assessment and immobilization forms the cornerstone of our certification program
